

NEW FROM COMPUTER KINETICS, SHOOT OUT / ACEY DUCEY 2 GAMES IN 1

Two Games in One

Computer Kinetics' unique Counter Top Shoot Out game is actually two completely different games in one cabinet. After the player(s) insert a coin(s) he can choose between Shoot Out or Acey Ducey. Each game is a game of skill. Either game can be played by one or two players. Shoot Out tests the player's reflexes in a simulated Old West Jesse James shoot out. Draw too slowly and the machine's screen may call you a "slow poke". Compete directly against the game or another player. If you prefer a card game, tell the machine's computer you wish to play Acey Ducey. This skill version of Acey Ducey actually lets you choose which skill level you wish to play. Novice, Pro or Expert. Learn how to play the game at the novice level, then work your way up to more challenging levels as you get better. Whether the player chooses Shoot Out or Acey Ducey, he is sure to be entertained and come back for more.

Small, but Powerful

Don't let Shoot Out's small size deceive you. Each Shoot Out game actually contains a sophisticated computer board with more computing power than most video games. This powerful computer not only performs the tasks necessary to play the games and keep track of players' scores. It also plays music and performs many realistic sound effects. Various aspects of the machine's play are programmable by internal game switches. You may adjust the number of rounds per coin, the number of starting points, and one or two coins per player. A useful self test is performed each time the machine is turned on and the screen indicates how the switches have been set.

Promotional Aides

Computer Kinetics' promotional aides are a terrific way to increase profits on your CKG games. The use of promotional aides will introduce your games to new customers and encourage players to come in more often. Some of our best ideas such as High Score Card, Free Game Coupons, Have Some Fun Poster, and Tent Cards are shown in the photo.

The Counter Top Concept

Computer Kinetics invented the Counter Top Concept in 1974 with the industry's first computer controlled counter top game. Since the introduction of this first game, Computer Kinetics' product line has grown tremendously to include a wide variety of game items. The entire product line is aimed primarily at entertainment for adults in adult locations. Counter top games are more suitable for bars, taverns and restaurants than any other game configuration. Juvenile theme games come and go so quickly that operator profits are often compromised. Computer Kinetics' counter top games are not short lived bad oriented games, they provide handsome income year after year.
